

Noren Products Achieves BBB Accreditation

With High Reputation, Noren Products Aims to Win the Hearts of Its Customers

When it comes to finalizing the decision about purchasing high-involvement products, the major concern is about the credibility of the seller. This especially applies to business-related products such as, thermal solution products. Noren Products is a company that sells waterproof heat exchanger, panel cooler, and other related machinery to businesses from diversified backgrounds. Over the years, the company has managed to build trust among its customers by achieving the BBB accreditation.

The spokesperson for Noren Products stated, “For businesses, qualifying for BBB accreditation requires them to follow specific standards. Noren Products has made this possible with its vast level of experience in the industry of thermal solutions provider. This achievement is the result of its efforts in coming up with a large variety of high-quality products for businesses.”

This accreditation is based on how Noren Products respond in meeting its customers’ expectations, answering their queries, and resolving any complaints. Besides this, the increased level of commitment provided by the company adds value to its high reputation among its customers. With BBB accreditation, the company aims to thrive for more in the future.

The BBB accreditation indicates how well a company is putting efforts in terms of reducing advertising or sales issues, delivery issues, billing and collection issues, and warranty issues. If a company has any of these issues, it does not get the accreditation. However, it is mainly related to the reduction in complaints related to customer support.

“Customers can file their complaint if they find this relevant. However, Noren Products has never experienced this till now. This makes the company worth considering, especially for those who want to invest a large amount of money in buying waterproof heat exchangers, panel cooler, and similar other machinery”, the spokesperson added further.

About the Company

Noren Products is an industry leader that provides thermal solutions to various industries as well as market sectors. With an experience of over 40 years, the company has established its reputation in the industry of thermal solutions. Moreover, it has dealt with industry challenges in the finest way.

Noren Products is a company that has solved various design issues with the use of its heat pipe technology, fabrication expertise, and engineering team. Currently, the company looks forward to improving its team performance so that its clients can get innovative solutions to related products across different industries.

Contact Details

Address: 1010 O'Brien Drive

Menlo Park, CA 94025

(866) 93-NOREN (6-6736)

(650) 322-9500

Email: sales@norenproducts.com